

Fatima Taki

Fatima Taki currently serves as an International Affairs Strategic Planner for the District of Columbia National Guard. She previously worked as the U.S. Africa Command (AFRICOM) Branch Analyst/Desk Officer for the National Guard Bureau International Affairs Division in Arlington, Virginia. Her duties include coordination of support for the State Partnership Program, international engagements in AFRICOM area of responsibility, regional analysis, senior leader diplomatic engagements, and new partnerships staffing.

Ms Taki has a diverse educational and professional background. She has attended schools in Morocco, Israel, and the U.S. She has worked in Information Management, Quality Assurance, and as a journalist in the Middle East and North Africa region (MENA). She has also served in the Virginia Army National Guard (2010-2014) and Utah Army National Guard (2014-2017). Ms. Taki has an extensive international cultural and linguistic background. She speaks French, Arabic (Modern Standard, Levantine, Maghrebi, Egyptian, and Gulf), Hebrew, Berber and conversational Spanish. As a journalist, she visited conflict areas to include Ghaza; West Bank; and Lebanon, Syrian, Iraqi and Jordanian borders with Israel. During her time in Israel, she interacted with high profile Israeli leadership to build rapport and increase understanding of the Middle East conflict and ethnic minority issues in the MENA region (Berbers, Kurds, Copts, Christians). As a MENA region and Sub-Saharan Africa subject matter expert, she routinely provides strategic support to the National Guard senior leadership.
