

Samuel Elzinga

Samuel Elzinga is a current sophomore at Utah Valley University studying political science, national security, and Russian. Samuel has participated in a variety of UN initiative's, including presenting at the High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development in July of 2018 and the 2018 International Day of the Mountains Celebration in December 2018. Samuel is currently on the youth committee for the UN-DGC NGO conference that will be held in Salt Lake City in August of 2019. Samuel has published in a variety of academic journals on campus and hopes to pursue a career relating to South and Central Asian international security affairs.